Profile

Licensed Clinical Officer Anaesthetist with a commitment to excellence, ethics and people. Also a good communicator with great interest in the Medical field. I have a passion for Healthcare, Community service and creating positive change in Anaesthesia provision.

Objective

My immediate goal is to interact fully and work with a growth-oriented institution, providing an avenue for advancement, expansion and sharing of medical knowledge.

Career Summary

Feb 2025 to Date. Clinical Officer Anaesthetist –Ruai Family Group of Hospitals.

Core Functions (Perioperative Period)

These apply across cadres, with specialists taking on more complex cases, supervision, and leadership roles:

Pre-operative (before surgery/procedure)

- Conduct thorough assessment: history, physical examination, review of labs/investigations, and evaluation of fitness for anaesthesia.
- Identify risks (e.g., existing conditions, medications, allergies, pregnancy) and develop an individualised anaesthesia care plan.
- Obtain informed consent and explain techniques, benefits, and risks to the patient and family.
- Optimise the patient's condition and prescribe/select pre-anaesthetic medications.

Intra-operative (during surgery/procedure)

- Administer anaesthesia or sedation using appropriate methods: general (IV or inhaled gases), regional (spinal, epidural, caudal), local, or combinations.
- Continuously monitor vital signs and organ function (heart rate, blood pressure, breathing/oxygenation, temperature, etc.) and adjust anaesthesia as needed.
- Maintain airway management, life support, and physiological stability; manage fluids, medications, and any complications or adverse reactions.
- Collaborate closely with surgeons and the theatre team; take a lead role in resuscitation during emergencies.

Post-operative (after surgery/procedure)

- Oversee recovery in the post-anaesthesia care unit (PACU/recovery room): ensure the patient emerges safely, manage pain, nausea, and residual effects of anaesthesia.
- Decide when the patient is stable enough for transfer to a ward or discharge (for outpatient cases).
- Provide follow-up care and pain management as needed.
